(PURELY VEGETABLE,)

Hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers, have opened upon suffering humanity the flood-gates of Mostrums in the shape of poor whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs and christened Tonics, Stomachies and Bitters.

Heware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and high-bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of bitters, which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years' trial by the American public, and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of Letters from the most eminent Clergymen, Lawyers, Physiciana, and Citizens, testifying, of their own personal apowlodge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

proparations, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Hobert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed-by evident relief, and testoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before and had almost despaired of regulating. I therefore with the despaired of regulating in the total may friend for directing me to thuse of them.

AROUND PETERSBURGH. From the Richmond Dispatch, July 14th. In front of Petersburgh, yesterday, mat-ters continued comparatively quiet.— Nothing occurred to interrupt the prevailing monotony beyond some picket firing and the occasional boom of a heavy gun The impression is very general that the enemy is withdrawing his troops, and, indeed, it is a pretty well ascertained fact that one corps of the Yankee army has already taken its departure. Coupled with this we have a report from an authentic er. The accounts in the Northern papers inform us that a most intense excitement prevails in Maryland and Pennsylvania, in consequence of a "rebel" invasion, and it would not be at all surprising to learn that Lincoln had peremptorily ordered Grant to Washington, to assure his own safety on Northern soil. While this is mere speculation, there is no doubt some mysterious movement going on in Grant's army, the nature of which will in a few days be re-

For a few nights past large fires have been seen on the North side of James River, below Richmond. It is probable that the Yankees are completing the destruction of the wheat crop and burning a farm house here and there, by way of gratifying their fiendish malice.

THE RIVER OBSTRUCTIONS.

It is stated that the enemy so far from removing the obstructions in the river at Trench's Reach, are increasing them by sinking stones and driving piles. It may be that they apprehend the approach of a fleet of Confederate rams, and seek by this means to prevent such an occurrence.

THE WELDON RAILROAD.

On Wednesday, the 27th of June, the Sixth Federal Army Corps, Gen. Wright commanding, accompanied by Sheridan, with two brigades of cavalry, moved down to Ream's Station, on the Petersburgh and Weldon Railroad, for the purpose of relieving Wilson and Kautz from their unpleasant situation. They were, however, too late to be of any service, for the raiders had been routed and were flying in every direction. Determined not to have their march for nothing, they halted and proceeded to fortify the place. They went to work industriously, and in fifteen or sixteen hours had erected a series of most formidable breastworks, which display considerable engineering skill. On Thursday morning at 3 o'clock scouts brought in a report that the "rebels were coming," whereupon the works were hastily abandoned, and the Yankees were soon in full retreat to the main body of Grant's army. Persons who have examined these works say that it is almost incredible that so much labor could have been performed in much labor could have been performed in so short a space of time. Had they de-layed their departure for a few hours it is quite likely that they would have been caught in a trap, escape from which would have been an impossibility.

A SKIRMISH.

PETERSBURGH, Wednesday, July 13. A portion of Fitz Lee's command enagged in a skirmish a part of Gregg's cavalry division, near Lee's Mill, fourteen miles southeast of Petersburg, yesterday evening, driving them back and capturing thirty-three prisoners, including two commissioned officers. There was considerable cannonading on our right this evening. Grant is evidently sending more forces to Washington.

markable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's beroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23d, 1862.

MESSES, JONES & EVANS:—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is youched for by numbers of my comrades, seme of whose names are appended, and who were cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayers. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last witk inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the "State of Mains," from which I lauded on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and iff I did force a morsel down, it was immeniately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under such circumstances and, accordingly, the physicians, who have been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and adv. od me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbrown, of Sixth street, below Arch, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to 'try your Bitters, and kindly procured me a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, gelting bettor. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have already gained ten pounds, and I fed sanguino of being per nitted to rejoin my wife and daugnites, from whom I have heard nothin So far from being a "contemptible fiz-zle," the "rebel raid" into Maryland be-gins to assume formidable proportions.— Lew Wallace has been defeated at Monoca-cy bridge. Frederick has fallen into our hands, and at last accounts our forces were pressing forward upon Baltimore .-Indeed, it was reported yesterday morning that we had defeated and captured Gen. Coach, ten miles beyond Frederick, and in the evening it was stated that our adin the evening it was stated that our advance had reached the Relay House, which is only nine miles from Baitimore. Both of these reports proved to be unfounded.

The defeat of Wallace seems to have produced great excitement in Washington Baltimore and in the small cities of Pennsylvania. Lincoln's organ calls on every nan who is able to handle a musket to step forth, to surround "the haughty invaded, and crush him with overwhelming num bers. Equal numbers, it appears, are not thought of. It prays Heaven to send the "daring leadership" which will enable us—the Yankees—"to do our duty."

The Yankee satrap who rules in Mary-land as Governor issued a stirring procla-

land as Governor issued a stirring procla-mation to the people at Baltimore to rally to the defence of that city, and implore them to come and that quickly. "It is not important how you come, but most impor-tant that you come at once." He is evi-dently impressed with the belief that the Monumental City is in imminent danger. From the Richmond Whig, July 14. The Northern papers of the 9th, from which we gave copious extracts in our iswhich we gave copious extracts in our issue of yesterday, naturally whetted up the appetite of the reading public for late news from our forces in Maryland. At 10 o'clock the agent of the Associated Pressluckily received from the Executive Department a copy of the Washington Chronicle of the 10th, containing admissions of the completeness of our success so far. As soon as a synopsis of the news of the Chronicle was placed upon the various bulletins of the city papers, it attracted crowds of readers, who not content with devouring every item, line by line, proceeded to the discussion of the probable consequences of our present successes, and to consequences of our present successes, and the successes, and instant. And our people had a right to be excited. For where does the war furnish any thing that approximates to a counterpart fixed fact. of the present movement. Silently a body captured. of troops, which the Yankees say is large, at least it is too large for any force they have ready to meet it, is hurled into Maryland, and after having destroyed railroad bridges, viaducts, commissary stores, and in fact every thing they pleased, are now threatening the Federal capital and the City of Baltimore, while a conquering Yankee General is asleep or stupified by Virginia juleps in front of Petersburg, waiting for something to turn up that will save him from the disgrace he merits. Northern papers have boasted often that Grant fully comprehended Gen. Lee's strategy, and was prepared to checkmate it. We didn't think so, but now we know he does.

THE NORTHERN EXCITEMENT. From the Richmond Dispatch, July 14.

The public mind was happily affected yesterday by the news from Maryland, furnished by a Washington paper of the 10th inst. For the time, Grant and Petersburgh were forgotten, and nothing was thought of or talked of but Baltimore, Monoacy Bridge, Lew Wallace and the invasion of the North. The situation in Georgia and the safety of Atlanta ceased to be a topic of conversation, and every body was discussing the probable effect of the present skillful and well-executed movement upon the issue of the campaign of 1864. It seems that a confederate force has advanced quietly and almost without opposition many miles into the enemy's territory, destroying railroads and bridges, and levying contributions upon the people at will, and the latestnews we have through Northern papers is that a body of troops drawn up to dispute the advance was de-feated and driven back in confusion -When Northern journals admit this much we may be sure that the victory was deci-sive and complete, and attended with important results.

The Yankee accounts say that "active arrangements are being made in anticipa tion of an emergency which it is confi-dently believed is only barely possible, no probable." These "active arrangements' doubtless have reference to an appre-bended uprising of the people of Baltimore and may include the planting of cannon in the streets and other measures to enforce "loyalty" in the Monumental City. At all events, it is apparent that the authorities there were terribly frightened, and busily concerting measures for the safety of the

It was currently reported, yesterday morning, that after the defeat of Wallace at Monocacy Bridge, our forces in Maryland encountered Gen. Conch, who had been sent out from Baltimore with reinforce-ments, defeated him and took him prison-er. This rumor was invented by some imaginative person who probably desired to keep up the excitement. Late in the eve ning it was reported that a letter had be received from a Confederate officer in Maryland, announcing that our forces were within sight of the outer fortifications of Baltimore, and still "marching on."

THE FIRST PRISONERS.

Mosby replied, "unconditionally, and that very quickly." Whereupon the Yankee force o eighty-two men surrendered. Mosby also

From the Richmond Dispatch, July 14. Some sixty or more citizens of Freder icksburg, who were taken North by the enemy after the battle of Spottsylvania, and held as "hostages" for a lot of Yankees alledged to have been captured by them, have returned to their homes, their exchange having been effected. They rep resent that they were roughly treated by the enemy, who looked upon them as "bushwhackers," and heaped upon them various indignities. As they passed through Philadelphia they were very near being mobbed by the populace, and were only relieved from this danger through the intercescion of one Peleg Clarke, formerly a paper manufacturer in Fredericksburg, who by his representations as to their character and standing, persuaded the crowd to desist. They were subsequently imprisoned at Fort Delaware, where those who had money fared pretty well, but others, less fortunate, suffered many privations. They state that the condition of the Confederate prisoners at that point is deplorable in the extreme, and strongly urge the adoption of some measures for their relief. Siakness is very prevalent among them, while the rations are meagre and of poor quality.

After a confinement of several weeks these citizens were released through the exertions of friends in this quarter, and started on their return home. In passing started on their return nome. Hardy, dated July 6: "Excuse me for attempting to give an with some sixty Yankee infantry. On the 2d inst., about 7 o'clock a. m., Capt. J. L. Bartlett, (residence, San Autonia, Texas.) commanding advance guard under Gen. Imboden, hearing of some Yankees in front, rode forward to see. They being in ambush, shot the Captain, (Bartlett) in the head, killing him instantly. Our men, soon coming up, surrounded the Yankees, the Col of whom (Leed) ordered the pris-oners to be shot, which order was immediately executed on a worthy man and non combatant, Abraham Emmart, who was shot through the heart and died instantly. We had time, in surrounding them, to kill but one Yankee and wound another mortally. We also had one wounded having examined his wound, I think it not mortal. What Gen. Imboden will do with the wretch Leed I have not understood. Their Tory pilot, John Moreland, who has been acting badly for a long time, I am sorry to say, got saway. Gen. Imboden destroyed a few miles of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad near and at French's depot, and destroyed an iron clad by burning, which made a good deal of soise as shells exploded which it contained miles below Richmond, and surprised an outpost picket composed of twenty-fiv-men of the City Battalion. The enemy succeeded in capturing fourteen of the number, including a commissioned officer and a sergeant in charge of the detachthey for the Yankee prisoners that our troops were guarding. All the luxuries they could procure were brought and given them. The same spirit was exhibited on the road from Winchester to Martinsburg. emy, but he succeeded in saving his horse From the gentleman who gave us the above information, we learn that the Yan kee fleet is laying quietly at the lower side of Dutch Gap. It is composed of three 1-turreted and one 2-turreted monitors, two large side-wheel steamers, two pro-pellers, and one small side-wheel steamer Last week a transport landed a quantity of supplies on the south side of the river which were taken up by a wagon train

A DASH ON REAM'S STATION.

On Tuesday a small body of rebel cav-alry made a dash upon Ream's station and endeavored to surprise our troops stationed there. They were handsomely re pulsed, however, with the loss of a num ber killed and wounded. The copy of the Washington Chronicle of the 10th, from which we publish extracts this morning, was found upon the person of one of the prisoners captured. THE NEWS AT THE WAR DEPARTMENT AND THE

From the Dispytch.

An official dispatch from Gen. Johnston states that matters are comparatively quiet in front of Atlanta, the only bostilities that have lately transpired being some artillery practice at long range across the Chata-hoochee. The enemy, doubtless, have pos session of some of the fords on the river.

The situation in Georgia is not so favor able as we could wish. Gen. Johnston is either unable to make up his mind to fight or unwilling to risk a general engagement which shall not certainly result in a vic tory more decisive that Lee, Beauragard or any other Confederate General has achiev-

Our latest advices from the other side of the Mississippi River would seem to represent that the Confedera es are having all their own way in that department. A force of twenty thousand cavalry, under Gen. Wharton, are said to have moved into Missouri, while Gen. Shelby with twenty-five hundred men, is already in the state, and Gen. Price is hastening on with the artillery and infantry to the same destination. This is a movement we have anticipated ever since the defeat of Banks and Steele, and we doubt not that Gen. Price is going into Missouri with the intention of staying there. He quietude. With the exception of burnt mills, empty smoke houses and corn cribs, mills, empty smoke houses and corn cribs, ly to the strength of his army in that State, and St. Louis will hardly be conappearance.

CERS.

About two e'clock yesterday morning Major McClellan and Lieut. Aikings, of the Twenty-second New York Cavalry, two Yankee officers confined in the Libby Prison Hospital, effected a temporary es cape from that building. Before discovered by the guard, they had succeeded in getting out of the prison, whereupon chase was given, which was kept up until reaching the corner of Twenty-first and Cary streets, when they were recap tured and carried back to their old quart During the race two shots were fired at them, one of which passed through the skirt of the coat worn by Lieut. Aikings.—Richmond Dispatch,
